Personal Bio

I am a Somali-American from Minnesota. I have a passion for fashion, makeup, and anything that has to do with creativity. As of right now, I am a face model signed in New York. I work with skincare and makeup products. Coming from a big family really built my personality and made me an open-minded extrovert. I have big goals and aspirations when it comes to this industry, I plan on always making a positive and big impact wherever I go.
